What is Investment Banking?

Simply put, investment bankers are key strategic advisers to companies and governments, helping them to facilitate industry change and evolution in the global economy. Our advice is used to connect the right investors with the right companies, to facilitate industry development and to create the most efficient capital structures for companies.

What service do we provide our clients?

We provide leadership, guidance and advice on financial transactions across all industries in all corners of the world. People often think of Investment Banking as mergers and acquisitions (M&A), however Investment Bankers also execute leveraged buyouts (LBOs), financial restructurings, divestitures, initial public offerings (IPOs), and privatizations.

How are we structured?
